

FREE OR INEXPENSIVE WAYS TO PROMOTE YOUR COMMUNITY'S KEEP ARKANSAS BEAUTIFUL CLEANUP

Getting free and inexpensive publicity for your event is easier than you might think. The ideas below offer you a variety of alternative communications ideas – some simple; some more advanced – on how you to use the many networks of clubs, businesses and churches that exist in your community, as well as other opportunities that might be available.

- 1. Calendars of Events Submit cleanup details to the local newspaper and/or local cable, TV and/or radio stations' calendar of events listings. When you submit the information, be sure to include the event name, host organization and date, who to call for more information, where volunteers should meet on the day of the cleanup, and what parts of the community will be picked up during the cleanup. Just e-mail the information with a request that it be included in the calendar of events.
- 2. News Stories and Coverage Submit a local, customized news release (template available at KeepArkansasBeautiful.com) about your event to the newspaper. Ask the newspaper to cover and photograph your cleanup.
- 3. Social Media Create a Facebook event for your cleanup and invite all of your friends to attend. Make posts on the event wall leading up to the cleanup to generate excitement. Follow Keep Arkansas Beautiful on Facebook, Instagram and Twitter! Post pictures of your Keep Arkansas Beautiful cleanup on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram and tag Keep Arkansas Beautiful (for Twitter and Instagram: @KeepARBeautiful). Also use hashtags #KeepARBeautiful and #GAC2017. Take photos and email them in to Keep Arkansas Beautiful for a chance for us to feature you on our social media networks!
- 4. Church Bulletins and Newsletters Submit cleanup details, with a specific call for volunteers, to every church in the community and ask them to post it in their worship bulletins, calendars and weekly member newsletters.
- 5. Radio Promotion Ask the radio station to produce and air a 15- or 30-second public service announcement about your cleanup. Confirm with the radio station that it has received the KAB radio spot from the Arkansas Broadcasters Association and request they air it in the weeks leading up to your cleanup. Make yourself available for interviews on local radio stations, especially if the stations are a Talk/News format or feature a local news segment in the morning.

- 6. Don't Forget Email! For every request you make of an organization or church to post information about the cleanup in their printed bulletins and newsletters, don't forget to ask them to distribute the same information to their email network.
- 7. Civic Organizations Ask the local Lions Club, Kiwanis, Chamber of Commerce, service sororities, fraternal organizations, Junior Auxiliary, Rotary Club, county Bar Association, etc. to announce the cleanup and need for volunteers at their weekly meetings.
- 8. Community Challenge Create a contest where civic organizations, school groups, churches and businesses are challenged to organize the largest cleanup team for the event. The largest team is then recognized on the day of the cleanup and awarded a prize. Prizes might consist of a T-shirt for each team member or a gift card donated from a local retailer.
- 9. Utility Bills Ask the City to print a one- or two-sentence reminder about the cleanup on all the utility bills going out to customers the month of your event.
- 10. University Connection All public school teachers in the state have an email address provided to them, as do all university professors and students. Ask the school and/or university to send an email announcement about the cleanup to the entire school email network.
- 11. Online Request that the City, County, Chamber of Commerce and local news outlets post the Keep Arkansas Beautiful logo (available at KeepArkansasBeautiful.com) to their homepage along with brief details about the local cleanup. If the local organization hosting and/or sponsoring the cleanup has a website, ask that the icon be linked to that organization's website.
- 12. Banners Stretch a vinyl banner across Main Street, at the entrance of the community's major employer or at another appropriate public venue announcing the local cleanup. Ask a local sign-maker/vendor to donate the sign then give them sponsorship credit on the sign. Or, ask your local soda vendor if they'll give you a plastic, disposable banner (often made available with soda donations. All you'll have to do is write in – with permanent marker – the cleanup details.)
- 13. The Schools Ask the student editor and/or teacher sponsor to write a story about the local cleanup in the school and/or college newspaper. Or, buy an ad in the school newspaper to promote the local cleanup date and need for volunteers. Submit the small-space ads to the newspaper (available at KeepArkansasBeautiful.com).

If the newspaper is published after the cleanup date, ask for a news story and/or editorial about the harmful effects of litter. Or, buy an ad to promote positive environment habits.

- 14. Posters Ask area businesses to post information about the cleanup on their Facebook page. They might also obtain a cleanup poster (available at KeepArkansasBeautiful.com) to hang in their storefront.

- 15. Neighborhood Associations Involve the neighborhood associations by encouraging them to organize a cleanup team and share the cleanup information on their Facebook page.
- 16. City Vehicles Request of the City Council and mayor that they place a “Please Don’t Litter” sticker (available from Keep Arkansas Beautiful) on and a “Report Littering” static cling (also available from Keep Arkansas Beautiful) in every police car, fire truck and other city vehicle.
- 17. Mayoral Proclamation Ask the mayor to officially proclaim “Keep [City Name] Beautiful Day” on the day of the local cleanup. This also provides an excellent photo opportunity for the local newspaper.
- 18. Results Don’t forget to submit cleanup results – including number of volunteers who participated, miles of roadway and/or shoreline picked up, flowers planted, illegal dumps closed, etc. – to the local newspaper for a post-event article.
